

Here are some articles and papers that explore themes similar to the video you , focusing on school violence, bullying, and the experiences of individuals with disabilities, particularly those with dwarfism:

1. "Bullying and Disability: A Study of the Experiences of Students with Physical Disabilities"
This article investigates the specific bullying experiences of students with physical disabilities in school settings, examining the factors that lead to increased vulnerability and suggesting interventions.
2. "Violence and Bullying in Schools: The Impact on Children with Disabilities"
A comprehensive review of the literature on how school violence and bullying affect children with various disabilities, discussing emotional outcomes and coping mechanisms.
3. "Dwarfism and School Environment: Narratives of Resistance and Resilience"
This qualitative study gathers narratives from individuals with dwarfism about their school experiences, focusing on resilience and coping strategies in the face of bullying.
4. "Critical Disability Theory and the Experiences of Adolescents with Disabilities in Schools"
This paper applies critical disability theory to the narratives of adolescents with disabilities, exploring systemic factors that contribute to bullying and school responses.
5. "Cultural Violence and Bullying: Experiences of Students with Special Educational Needs"
An analysis of how cultural violence manifests in schools and its effects on students with special educational needs, with a focus on psychological impacts.
6. "Systemic Issues in School Responses to Bullying: The Case for Policy Reform"
This article critiques current school policies regarding bullying and proposes changes aimed at more effectively addressing the needs of bullied students, particularly those with disabilities.
7. "Intersectionality in School Bullying: The Needs of Diverse Student Populations"
This research looks at how different identities (e.g., race, gender, disability) intersect to impact bullying experiences, advocating for a more nuanced approach to interventions.
8. "Resilience in the Face of School Bullying: The Stories of Students with Dwarfism"
A qualitative study highlighting the coping mechanisms and forms of resilience displayed by students with dwarfism who have faced bullying in school environments.

These videos contribute to a broader understanding of the intersection of disability, bullying, and school culture, while also addressing resilience, agency, and the need for systemic change in educational conveidos.