

Faculti Summary

<https://faculti.net/chinas-left-behind-children-parenting-caretaking-and-struggles/>

This video discusses the experiences of children left behind by migrant parents in rural China. The author highlights challenges such as lack of emotional connection with parents, the impact of parental divorce, and difficulties faced by children when visiting their parents. The author suggests reforms, such as ending the household registration system and improving access to education for migrant children. Additionally, the author proposes volunteer programs to support these children during visits to their parents. This video emphasizes the need for interventions to address the emotional and practical needs of these children.