

FACULTI VIDEO PLATFORM

Launch of a new Educational and Research dissemination solution

Dear Reader,

Faculti provides highly accessible and engaging videos derived from the worlds' leading academic figures and institutions. It combines the key features of the latest research publications, with extended educational insights in a video database that support student learning and educator delivery.

On Faculti.net, users get access to 2000 annual videos from 20 core academic and professional fields with links to the original source.

Leading figures on Faculti include:

Noam Chomsky, Political Science, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Steven Pinker, Psychology, Harvard University

Lawrence Summers, Political Science, President Emeritus, Harvard University

A.C Grayling, Philosophy, Founder, New College Humanities

Nader Tehrani, Architecture, Massachusetts Institute of Technology

Helen Storey, Fashion, University of the Arts London

Howard Gardner, Psychology, Harvard University

Sandy Pepper, Business, London School of Economics

Maggie Snowling, Education, President of St John's College, Oxford University

David Willetts, Policy, Minister of State for Universities and Science, 2010-2014

Have a look at faculti.net to see how this new engaging research solution can support the academic learning or professional development of your department, organization or institution.

Interested in testing Faculti or receiving more information? Send us an email to libraryrelations@faculti.net

If you have any additional questions please let us know.

With very best regards,

Your Faculti marketing team